ANNUAL CONFERENCE
SIN AND CHRISTIAN ETHICS
5th-7th September 2014, Westcott House, Cambridge

Information for Publishers

The Society has chosen as the theme of this year's annual conference, quite simply, 'Sin'. It seems ever to be before us – in the media, in political debate, in institutional life, in public and in private. The reach of sin, its relationship with death, its inventiveness and persistence, its place in human nature, its endless capacity to elicit shock and blame, its need of mercy – all of these pose questions for the theologian who attends to the Christian moral life and these are the issues which we plan to consider at our conference this year.

Previous conferences have attracted over 80 scholars and practitioners in the field of Christian ethics, researchers in related disciplines and others interested in the topic from around the UK, continental Europe, the USA and beyond.

We welcome exhibitors at the conference, and look forward to doing everything possible to give your publications the highest promotion. Various opportunities exist for promoting your publications:

Fliers in conference packs

On arrival, each participant will be given a conference pack with all the information they need about the conference. For a charge of £30 we will incorporate your promotional material such as fliers or book catalogues in these packs.

Conference sponsorship

During the conference, there will be a limited number of opportunities to sponsor refreshments for conference participants. £200 will sponsor a wine reception before dinner, during which you might wish to do a short book launch, or some other such promotion. Alternatively, £200 will sponsor wine with dinner which would be acknowledged in the conference programme, and your fliers placed on dining tables. £50 will sponsor cakes during a coffee break.

Book displays

There are two options for obtaining one or more tables (approx 2m x 1m) in the book display area:

1. Your representative pays the full registration fee for the conference, and receives a table to display publications at no further charge. (Additional tables can be booked for a fee of £30.)
2. You pay £50 for the first table, and an additional £30 if you would like an additional table.

The book display area is limited in size, so you are advised to book early. In order to ensure as wide a range in the book display area, we allow only two tables to be booked per publisher.

Please send your order to the Conference Secretary using the form below with payment or requesting an invoice.

Do please be in touch if we can answer any questions. We look forward to hearing from you, and joining you in partnership throughout the conference weekend.

With all best wishes
